.describe(

17 OCTOBER 2026 PREPARED FOR THE .DESCRIBE(BRAND SYSTEM

Sample report: two datasets, one visual language

A worked example of the .describe(report template, built from public sample data so every number can be reproduced offline.

01

Summary

Between January 2010 and June 2022, five of seven large technology stocks outgrew the S&P 500, which rose +256%. Apple grew most.

23×	+256%	+38 yrs
Apple since Jan 2010	S&P 500 since Jan 2010	Oman, life expectancy 1952–2007
n = 150 months	the benchmark	n = 14 countries

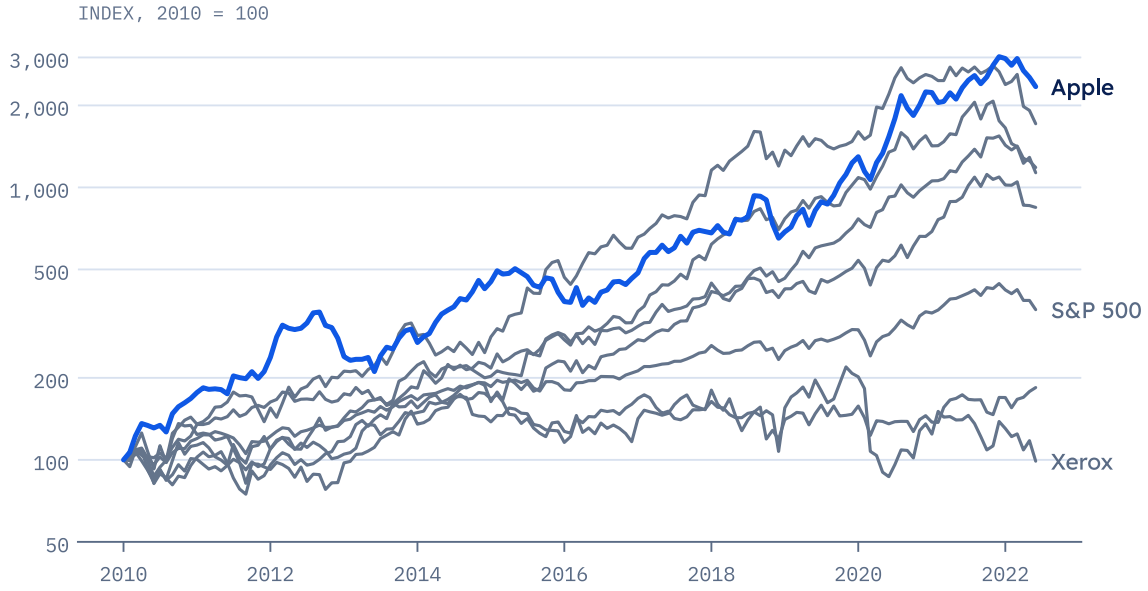

02

Markets

Apple grew 23-fold from 2010, the most of seven stocks

Adjusted monthly close, indexed to January 2010, log scale. S&P 500 +256% over the same period.

Dell is not shown: listed in 2016, it has no January 2010 price.

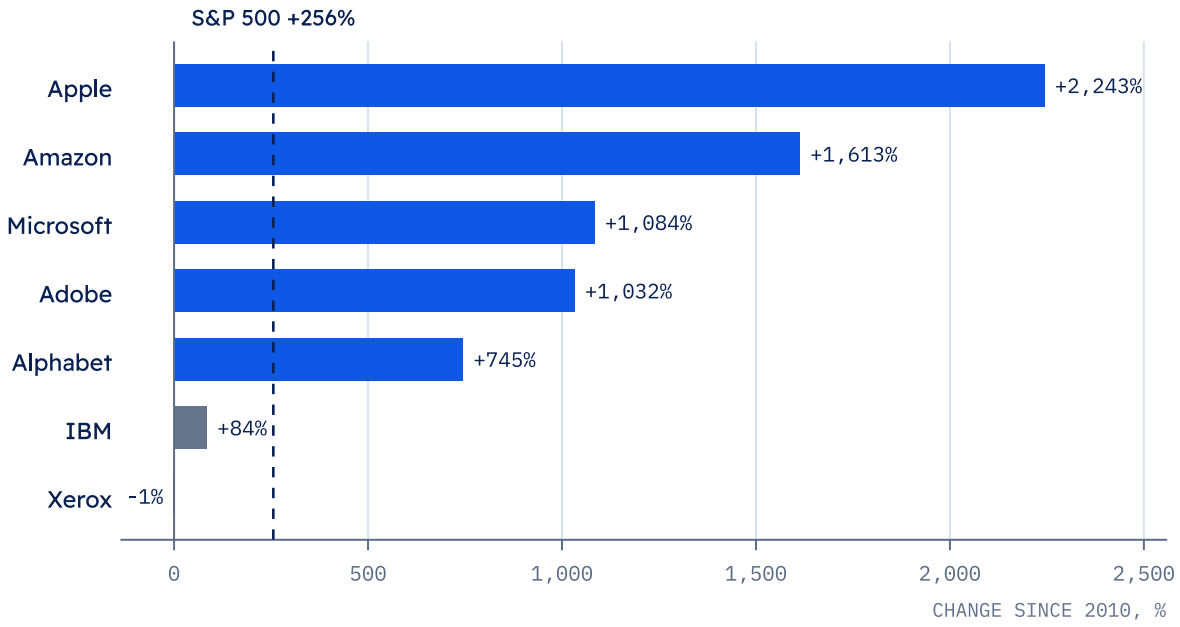

n = 150 months × 8 series

Source: Yahoo Finance via matplotlib sample data (Stocks.csv), adjusted monthly closes. Computed 17 Oct 2026.

Five of seven stocks beat the S&P 500 from 2010 to mid-2022

Change in adjusted close, January 2010 to June 2022. Blue bars beat the benchmark (dashed).

n = 7 series ranked; Dell not applicable (listed 2016)

Source: Yahoo Finance via matplotlib sample data (Stocks.csv), adjusted monthly closes. Computed 17 Oct 2026.

Adjusted close, USD. Dell has no 2010 price, so no change is computed.

SERIES	JAN 2010	JUN 2022	CHANGE, %
Apple	5.9	137.4	2,243.5
Amazon	6.3	107.4	1,612.8
Microsoft	21.7	256.5	1,083.6
Adobe	32.3	365.6	1,032.0
Alphabet	265.2	2,240.1	744.6
IBM	77.0	141.9	84.3
Xerox	16.0	15.8	-1.1
Dell	—	48.9	—

n = 8 series · Source: Yahoo Finance via matplotlib sample data (Stocks.csv), adjusted monthly closes

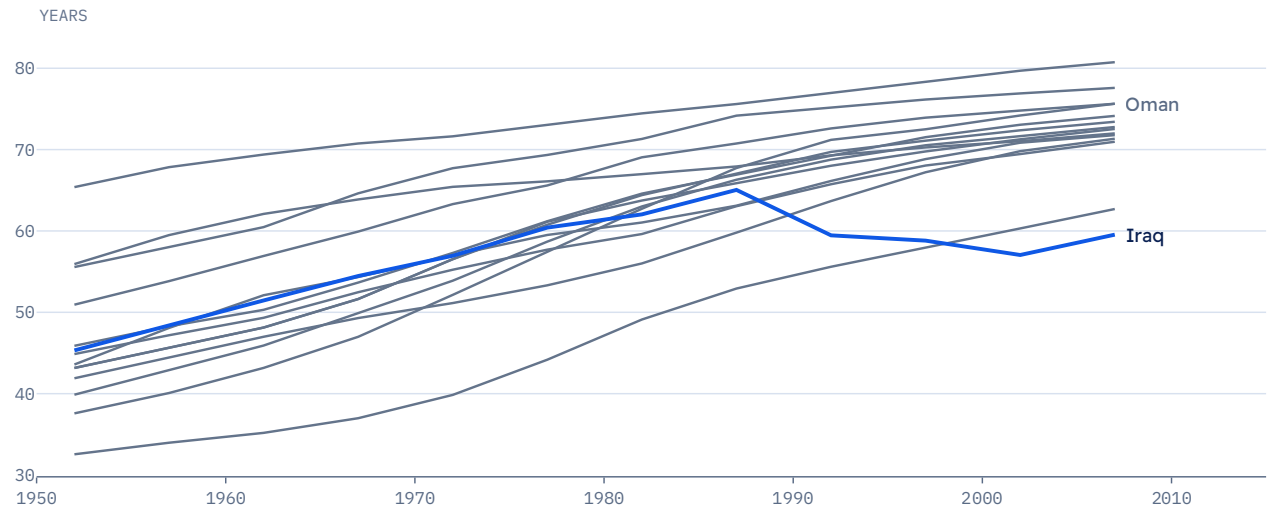

03

Life expectancy

Every Middle East country in the Gapminder set gained at least 14 years. Iraq gained least, and its curve flattens after 1987.

Iraq's life expectancy gained 14 years, the least of fourteen Middle East countries

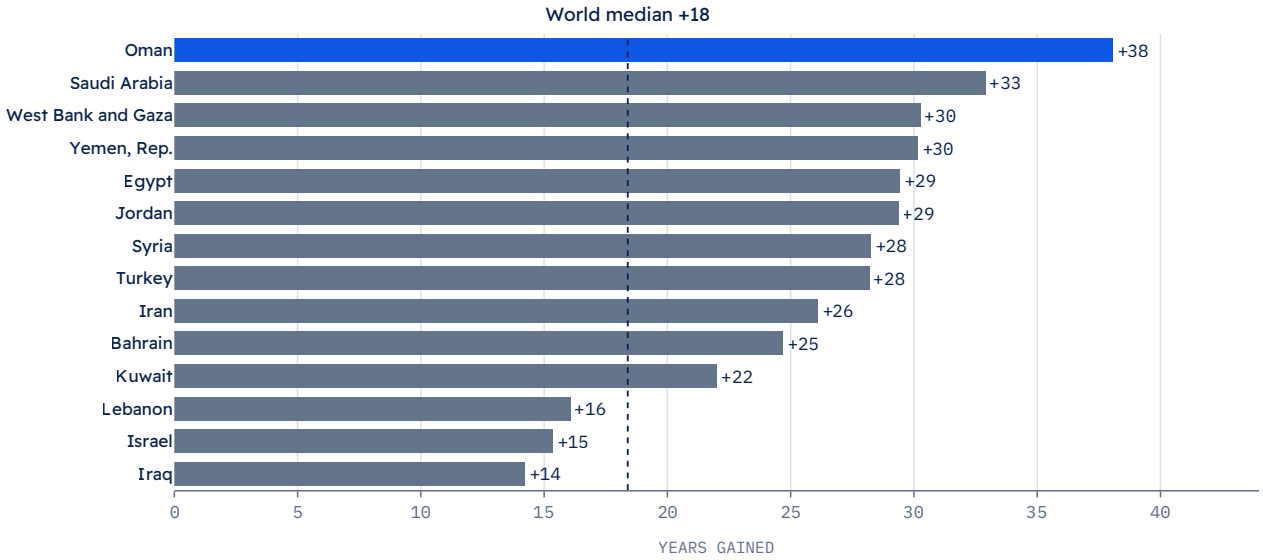

Life expectancy at birth, 1952–2007, every five years. Iraq stalls after 1987; Oman gained most (38 years).

n = 14 countries × 12 survey years
Source: Gapminder, via plotly.express.data.gapminder(). Computed 17 Oct 2026.

Oman added 38 years of life expectancy between 1952 and 2007, the most in the region

Change in life expectancy at birth, 1952 to 2007. Dashed: the median of all 142 countries.

n = 14 countries
Source: Gapminder, via plotly.express.data.gapminder(). Computed 17 Oct 2026.